

DROUGHT ANGELS

DISASTER RELIEF FOR AUSSIE FARMERS

“
SOMETIMES THE PEOPLE WHO NEED THE MOST SUPPORT ARE
THOSE WHO ARE LAST TO ASK
FOR IT. WE’RE HERE FOR THEM.

JENNY GAILEY

Chief Operations Officer

Jenny is a self-confessed city chick with a country heart...

Born in London she immigrated to Australia at the age of 2 in 1971. Raised in Brisbane she completed her schooling at Balmoral State High School.

Her first job was at Canon Australia as an Accounts Receivables Clerk, where over a ten-year period she worked her way up the ranks to Credit/Finance Officer. It’s at Canon where she met Tash in 1994.

With the loss of her Mother who passed away at age 51, Jenny took to the skies and travelled the world for 12 months until it was time to come home and restart her life. During this time, she worked at Price Waterhouse London and within weeks of returning to Australia she found employment with OneSteel Reinforcing expanding her finance knowledge and finally becoming PA to the National and State Managers. It was during her time with OneSteel that Jenny honed her organisational skills and business awareness in the corporate world.

Whilst at OneSteel she met local Wynnum boy Peter Gailey. If you are ever to meet Pete, you could be forgiven for thinking he’s from the country...so it wasn’t a surprise when one day they decided to sell their house and business and move with their two kids to the small country town of Chinchilla which they now proudly call home.

Jenny volunteered at the family support centre before becoming a full-time employee. Her compassion and desire to help others had found a home for five years until the opportunity arose to help Tash run Drought Angels as Director & Chief Operations Officer. Jenny’s life experiences have shaped who she is today. Her passion will always be that of helping others, and the understanding of their stories, her school.
